The Bowflex Max Total 16 machine blends the low impact of an elliptical and high intensity of a stepper to offer short, high intensity interval workouts in a compact design. Intended for users who want a challenging, efficient, and effective high-intensity workout, the Max Total 16 features 6-hand position dynamic handles, oversized textured foot pedals, and a magnetic resistance system with 20 levels of resistance that can be adjusted with the turn of a dial.

The Max Total 16 experience is further expanded through the integration with the JRNY digital fitness platform, so users stay engaged and motivated during high calorie burn interval workouts. The platform uses machine learning to create an infinite number of personalized workouts based on an initial fitness assessment and curated, individualized and trainer-led workouts, with new workouts added weekly. Members also have access to Explore the World content, including more than 50 routes from around the world, which auto adjust to their speed in real time, as well as access to the member's own entertainment subscriptions like HBO Max, Netflix, Hulu, Amazon Prime Video and Disney+.* For a limited time only, a one-year complimentary JRNY membership is included with the purchase of a Max Total 16.

"Our innovative Max Trainer has been one of our all-time best-selling products. It combines the benefits of an elliptical and stepper in a unique high-intensity interval trainer. Now, combined with the JRNY digital platform, it provides highly personalized, challenging and engaging workouts led by world-class trainers to help our customers reach their fitness goals," said Jim Barr, CEO of Nautilus, Inc. "Millions of people have permanently changed their workout habits as a result of the pandemic and are realizing the convenience and benefits of working out at home; it's our mission to continue to offer connected solutions across our line of cardio and strength products."

Members can also use their JRNY membership to access whole body, off-product workouts including strength, yoga, stretch and Pilates. These workouts vary in length and intensity and can be completed while listening to JRNY Radio.

The Bowflex Max Total 16 is the latest addition to Nautilus, Inc.'s individualized connected fitness portfolio. Since September 2020, Nautilus, Inc. has introduced two bikes, three treadmills, and two Max Trainers — all connected with the enhanced JRNY digital fitness platform and HD touchscreens.

The JRNY Platform is available on Bowflex.com, for download in the Google Play and App Stores, and comes pre-loaded on the Max Trainer Max Total 16 and M9 machines, the VeloCore® and C7 bikes, and T7, T10 and T22 treadmills. Members can also utilize JRNY's bring-your-own-device feature and use their own smart phone or tablet to access the JRNY platform on the Bowflex® C6 and Schwinn IC4 indoor cycling bikes. Following the 1-year trial period, a JRNY membership will cost $19.99 per month or $149 per year, plus applicable taxes.

A new web-based customer portal has been launched where members can learn more about the JRNY platform, updates on the latest features, as well as manage their accounts. Available at http://www.jrny.com, the new portal allows customers to update expired credit cards, reactivate their membership, update their password, pause a membership in the offseason, as well as choose to renew their membership monthly or change their plan.

The Bowflex Max Total 16 is available for direct purchase for $2,799 (MSRP). For more information about the Bowflex Max Total 16, or JRNY digital fitness platform, please visit: https://www.bowflex.com.

*Requires a subscription to the streaming service, not included. Also requires a JRNY® digital fitness platform membership to access the streaming service from the console.

About JRNY® Digital Fitness Platform

The JRNY platform uses machine learning to create personalized treadmill, indoor bike, and Max Trainer machine workouts based on an initial fitness assessment. The platform assesses the member's fitness level and recommends these workouts based on their abilities, available time, mood, and the workout experiences they prefer, and continues to learn and adapt — removing the guesswork from achieving a productive and satisfying workout. JRNY members receive voice-coached individualized workouts for compatible Bowflex connected cardio machines, trainer-led cardio and strength video workouts, the ability to travel the world by pairing workouts with Explore the World ™routes, and access, from the consoles of select Bowflex products, to the member's own entertainment subscriptions like HBO Max, Netflix, Hulu, Amazon Prime Video, and Disney+.
